

Investors Appreciate ReitBuyer.com, an Easy to Understand Information Resource for REIT Buyers

Understanding REITs (Real Estate Investment Trusts) is made easy with a recently launched website packed with valuable information

Southfield, MI – Our economy is facing a crisis as real estate values drop and the stock market looks even worse. According to Earl E. Bird, III, spokes person for the ReitBuyer.com, there is hope for investors. He believes REITs to be a profitable investment, even today. “REITs are considered to be a great investment,” said Earl. “Their dividends are usually high and there is great potential for moderate, long-term appreciation. Compared to other investment options, over time the return on REIT stocks produce a slightly lower return than a high risk investment, but a higher return than a low risk bond.”

The ReitBuyer website has proven to be an effective tool in learning about REITs and how to invest in them. Many inexperienced investors have learned a lot from the material provided on the ReitBuyer.com site. One investor said, “It’s very informative and easy to understand. It’s like REITs for dummies; anyone can learn about REITs and REIT buying at this site.”

Earl said, “We provide approved broker dealers who can work with investors to put together a managed portfolio. Intermediate investors who have some experience but need additional information and basic analysis can use our research tools; we provide a good platform for experienced investors as well.”

United States Congress established REITs in the 1960s to allow average investors the chance to invest in large-scale, income producing real estate and commercial real estate. Access to these investment opportunities used to be limited to wealthy individuals and institutions before Congress became involved.

Real estate investors can learn about REITs at the REITBuyer.com. REITbuyer.com is an online brokerage information site specializing In REITs and Real Estate Mutual Funds – The World’s first and only site dedicated to REITs Real Estate Mutual Funds. This is a place for the small investor to own a piece of world class real estate.
